

Wyndham employees raise their voices in Song at Festivoices 2005

Beautiful voices and vibrant performance marked the annual songfest of the Wyndham Aruba Resort, Spa and Casino this past Saturday evening. As employees from every department emoted from the elegantly prepared stage, their family, friends and fans provided inspiration from the packed house in the Palm Beach Ballroom.

Edeline Guerrero won the top prize for her heartfelt rendition of “One Moment in Time” and Hendrik Schaap of Accounting thrilled the audience and took second place in the A division with “Tu de que vas,” which he lovingly dedicated to his wife. Not only did he receive a trophy for that, but a big kiss from her after his performance.

Another noteworthy winner was Saul Hirschfeld, taking not only second place in the B division for his rendition of Elton John’s “Daniel,” but also the trophy for Most Popular Performer. Also taking First Place for the A division was Greta de Cuba singing the Bryan Adams classic “Everything I do, (I do it for you.)” Aside from beautiful trophies they can display proudly, winners took home prizes of weekend stays at the Wyndham, dinners at the many fine restaurants it is home to, and generous gifts of activities and goods provided by cooperative vendors within the hotel.

The annual songfest is a treat for the participants and audience alike, and Saturday night was a fun filled evening of surprisingly professional performances by the very same people that in their everyday lives contribute to making vacations a bit more memorable. Little does one realize that their waiter or housekeeper is secretly a rock star waiting to let their musical spirit soar, and Saturday evening gave them the opportunity to strut their stuff!
